THE EXAMINER'S STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the instant claims are allowable over the prior art of record, because the prior art is silent to a fuel cell system comprising: a humidifier humidifying fuel gas and air; a displacement sensor detecting a displacement value in length of the stack in the stacked direction; a temperature sensor detecting a temperature of the stack; and a controller discriminating whether the polymer electrolyte membrane is in a dry state in response to the displacement value of the stack detected by the displacement sensor and the temperature of the stack detected by the temperature sensor, and controlling the humidifier, when the polymer electrolyte membrane is discriminated as in a dry state at a start of operation of the stack, to cause the polymer electrolyte membrane to be brought into a wet state.

The prior art, such as Okamoto et al., EP 0 831,543, teaches a gas humidifying device for use with a fuel cell (12) in which water permeable membranes (22a-22f) are provided with fuel gas passages (34a-34c) and oxygen containing gas passages (48a-48c) formed on one side of the water permeable membranes, and wherein humidifying water passages (40a-40f, 144) are formed on the other side thereof. See the Abstract. However, Okamoto is silent to a controller discriminating whether the polymer electrolyte membrane is in a dry state in response to the displacement value of the stack detected by the displacement sensor and the temperature of the stack detected by the temperature sensor. Therefore, the instant claims are patentably distinct from Okamoto.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statements filed January 18, 2002 and April 5, 2002 has/have been received and complies with the provisions of 37 CFR 1 .97, 1.98 and MPEP § 609.
